CURTISS Baby Ruth

ANNOUNCEMENT

Because of the tremendous demand for Curtiss Baby Ruth, the 5c candy hit, we are deferring the next page advertisement that was scheduled to run today in The Chicago Tribune.

We are working three shifts daily to keep up with the increasing demand for Baby Ruth, and out of deference to our many loyal dealers and jobbers we are reluctant to create any more orders than we are able to fill at this time.

If you are lucky enough to be able to buy a BABY RUTH bar today, you will understand what has caused this great and growing popularity.

We want to take this occasion to thank our numerous friends in the business, and to ask them to be lenient with us in this great flood of orders.

For 1925, however, we have already arranged a still greater advertising and selling campaign than even the big campaign of 1924, as our production will have increased.

A Merry Christmas to all our good friends and a Prosperous New Year.

Will Sets Aside $700,000 Fund for Widow.

New York, Dec. 16 .- [Special.]-The will of August Belmont, banker, sports man, and subway builder, who died on Dec. 10 after a thirty-six hour illness, caught fire.

was filed in Mineola, L. I., today.
Unauthoritatively Mr. Belmont's fortune is estimated from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000, but some of those most nearly in position to judge say that his wealth had so shrunk in late years that the $20,000,000 estimate probably would be the closer to the actual figures.

No Public Bequests

The will makes no public bequest and the greatest single item is a trust fund of at least $700,000 to be set aside for the widow, Eleanor Robson Bel-mont, so that she shall have an annual income during her lifetime of not less than $20,000. Mrs. Belmont also re-ceives $20,000 for her immediate needs. The residuary estate is divided among Mr. Belmont's two surviving children, Morgan Belmont and Raymond Belmont; the widow of his third son, Mrs. August Belmont Jr., and the issue of his three children. One of the most interesting clauses gives to the widow in trust during her lifetime the country estate and breeding farm near Babylon, L. I., with all the live stock.' At her death this is to pass into the residuary estate. Stable Worth $400,000. Racing authorities estimate the Bel-nont stable to be worth $400,000. They say that Ladkin and Ordinance, two Actual Disposal Methods.

The impression has been spread so measively, many believe Chicago is itempting to dispose of all of its ware by flowing it into the drainage and and diluting it with water from the lake.

The fact is that the city now produces more sewage and trade wastes than can be diluted by the 10,000 cubic feet now then from the lake.

It is importable, therefore, that part of the sewage be treated before it than the canal. That has been wasted by the drainage trustees for stime. Accordingly, they have used to build those necessary displants and intercepting drains to it the sewage to such plants.

If the cost of actual construction—hout engineering, legal or clerical panse—for sewage treatment works a district's records show the follows rearly expenditures:

Earl K. Todd, a drug clerk, was or-dered held to the grand jury as ac-cessory before the fact, and Hazel Howard-Brady, Shaw's sweetheart, who was spending the night at the Shaw home with Shaw's sister, Marie, Shaw home with Shaw's sister, Marie, after the party, was ordered arrested for disorderly conduct. The jury also recommended that an Italian who had sold six quarts of wine to members of the roadhouse party be located and held as an accessory.

While other members of the Saturday night party testified that there had been drinking. Todd was the only one who admitted he had brought a pint of liquor as his share of the entertainment. So he was ordered held to the grand jury.

Dying Father's Story.

A story differing somewhat from that told by others was read into the record of the inquest. It was the statement of the fight with George as given to Lieut. Fred Onthank of the Oak Park police by Bruce Shaw before his death. This is the story:

"My son went out of the house at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon after we had been shopping. He did not come home for supper and I did not see him again until early Sunday morning, when I saw him come into the house with Mrs. Hazel Brady, whom I had never seen before.

There will be many who will want to know how this loss said to be due to the handling of second class matter has increased so fremendously since the inception of the parcel post service. Has there been a fair distribution of costs as between the fourth class, in which virtually every parcel must be individually weighed and handled, and, on the other hand, newspapers weighed, sacked, routed and delivered to the train at an expense to the publishers of millions of deliars? These are facts which should be known.

THE ROPE.

After the Loeb-Leopoid verdict Liberty offered a prize of $1,000 for the best essay written on the subject of capital punishment. The winning article is printed in this week's issue of the magazine. The argument could be for or against the death penalty, and 5,085 persons submitted essays. Of this number, 3,799 writers were for the abolition of hanging and 1,376 were in favor of its retentian. Women were against hanging by 1,175 to 254.

The winner was a woman. She was for capital punishment. Her opinion was not excogitated. It was not the product of emotional generalization. It came out of her experience, and her essay was an unexpected find among the manuscripts submitted.

We'll leave it to Liberty to tell the story. It The people are very much interested in we'll leave it to Liberty to tell the story. It seems to us that there is a notable example of how sentimentalism and experience go different roads, with nothing in common. The tendency of woman suffrage has been to increase sentimentalism in government temporarily. At least we may hope it is temporary.

If sentimentalism is related to humanity it is curious that it so seldom considers the rights of the people who are the victims of murder. METABOLISM AND BLOOD PRESSURE. Mrs. F. H. B. writes: 1. Will you please explain what n test is and how taken 2. Also, blood pressure?

1. A basal metabolism test shows whether you convert food into energy at a proper or an improper rate. In making a basal metabo-lism test the amount of carbonic acid thrown oif the lungs in the exhaled air in a given time is carefully measured. From this, the basal metabolic rate is calculated.

2. The blood pressure is measured by fastening a hellow tube around the arm and pumping air into the tube until the pressure stops the wrist pulse from beating. The when the wrist artery collapses is equal to the pressure of the blood in that artery.

3. No. There is no necessary relation between the two. Anemia means that the blood is of poor quality, being low in red coloring Ran into the Riviera theater features via WEBH at 7:45. This is another good local idea: orchestra, chorus, so loists, with the laughter of the audience adding a human touch.

Traveling around, I finally settled down to Clara E. Laughlin's talk from WMAQ on the ships of the sea at their wharves in New York, the passengers, and a lot of things that aroused the imagination and inspired this thought, that if radio waves could only transport the physical as well as the ethereal what world travelers we would be!

The Philharmonic quartet (mixed volces) gave a subdued, serious concert at WMAQ at 2:15. All good, but since

The Philharmonic quartet (mixed voices) gave a subdued, serious concert at WMAQ at 9:15. All good, but since there was nothing exceptional we will toss the compilment that these 9:15 concerts are next to the last word in radio concert program presentation.

One of the purest musical moments was furnished by Master Gerome Feingold, a violinist with a beautiful, full, round tone at KYW, at 10 o'clock. We learn that when this artist is not playing the violin or sleeping he is studying the higher A, B, Cs, at Senn High school. We shall expect much, very much, from Gerome Feingold a few years hence.

Eliminates Local Interference

This receiver was developed by Kennedy engineers to overcome just such conditions as exist in Chicago. Cuts through the powerful local stations and brings in distant stations. Every day Kennedy owners are proving this the most powerful and most selective 5-tube receiver ever built. Simplicity of tuning (only 2 dials) and constant reception of stations at the same point on the dials are special features of the Kennedy XV.

The exceptional tone clarity makes this powerful and selective radio receiver truly a musical instrument.

D. L. GOODWILLIE, CIVIC LEADER, CALLED BY DEATH

David Lincoln Goodwillie died yes erday morning at the Presbyterian cospital following major operaion performed eleven days ago. He was 65 years old and lived at A native Chicagoan, he was not only active in the city's business life, but was a in civic projects.

Mr. Goodwillie
was a member of the Union league club and interested that body in a forest c servation conference held here in 1922. He was given most of the credit the enactment by congress of a bill for the preservation and protection of the standing forests, and served as chair-man of the forestry committee of the national chamber of commerce.

When he died he was president

The answer to the whisperings about Woodrow Wilson's Love Affairs

MARY ALLEN HULBERT (MARY PECK)

begins in Liberty—out today—at all newsstands

Slander's fangs have struck deeply at the memory of our dead War President . . . !

Now-as slander rears its head in a high moment - Mary Allen Hulbert (Mary Peck) answers! Tells the true story of her friendship with Woodrow Wilson!

She says: "I, who was honored by his friendship, who gloried and still glory in it, who was permitted to glimpse the clear, fine nobility of his mind, have paid a peculiar penalty. . .

... And yet I am too proud to fight... I did not fight when the Department of Justice sent men and women to but I am not at all sure what they had in mind to do. Confiscate his letters to me, for one thing. Link me with the kaiser's system of espionage, for another."

Of her final determination to still the serpent's tongue by public denial, she quotes a friend's warning: "Mary Hulbert, if you write these articles you will lose what shred of reputation you have left."

Of her friendship with Woodrow Wilson at Bermuda, she relates the following incident: "Our favorite walk was along the south shore—over the tribal road which runs straight from the landlocked harbor to the open sea. A lovely walk. We talked of a number of things, the wonderful understanding of his mind made for perfect comradeship."

At last—after years of silence—Mary Allen Hulbert has written this answer to the whisperings about Woodrow Wilson's love affairs. It is the truth—laid bare—for the first time. It will appear exclusively in Liberty Magazine. It is an historical document no citizen should miss; an amazing revelation of Woodrow Wilson's private life, never before published. It begins in this week's Liberty. Out today. At all newsstands. 5c.

Official opening of the Riding club, on McClurg court, between Erie and Ontario streets, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight. The exercises had been scheduled for last Monday night, but were delayed by work on the building

Without the amendment the Underwood bill authorizes the leasing of the property if a bid satisfactory to the President can be stained prior to Sept. 1, 1925, and w not government operation is provided.

Passage of the Underwood bill during the week seems a likelihood. However, some of those who voted against the Smith amendment will support the Jones amendment referring the whole proposition to a commission for further study.

The thirty-two who supported the Smith amendment included the La Follette group.

VILLAGE GOSSIP LIVENS TRIAL OF INA POISON PAIR

Hand Holdings Told; Judge Bars Elsie's Confession.

Y ORVILLE DWYER.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Stories of the village revival meeting love trysts of Elsie Sweeting and Lawrence M. Hight, her former paster, were brought into the court of Judge J. C. Kern here today and laid before the jury.

Witnesses told of the siy slippings away from the tabernacle during the camp meeting at Bonnie, a camp ground near the village of Ina, where Mrs. Sweeting lived and the preacher was parson of the Methodist church. There were hand holdings, in the church at Whittington and on the camp ground, it was testified.

Hight was caught slipping late at a hight out of Mrs. Sweetin's cottage. It after they had both quietly left the tabernacle during services.

All the gossip that attended the alleged indiscretions of Lawrence Hight and Eisie Sweetin was moved into the courtroom.

Miss Reva Manesse, a pretty girl who stayed for a while in the Hight parsonage before Wilford Sweetin and in Mrs. Anna Hight died, testified she heard Hight say that "Mrs. Sweetin is the best looking woman in Ina."

The girl also said she saw Hight holding Mrs. Sweetin's hands at the Bonnis camp meeting.

On cross examination. Attorney Smith: "Miss Reva, you say he was an abolding both her hands?"

"Yes, str."
"Well, that's preacher style, isn't it?"
"I don't know. I—I never shook

Confession Ruled Out.

The presentation of the gossipy testimony from Ina was started after rudge Kern had ruled that Elsie Sweetin's confession had been obtained through a violation of her constitutional rights and was not admissible in

The court made this ruling after Attorney Smith had bitterly denounced Hight, referring to him as "this damnable cuss who betrayed this woman at Ina and wrecked her life and then, not satisfied, betrayed her into the hands of the authorities as "sell"

Atterney Nelson M. Layman, counsel for Hight, announced tonight that Hight probably will not take the witness stand in his own defense but will make a speech to the jury in his behalf, Hight in his thirteen years ministry was a reputation as a revival mating exhorter and he believes this will help him with the jury.

Thousands told us what they wanted-we guarantee you'll like it

> WE asked thousands of business men, students, housewives, to tell us what they expected in a pencil. Then we set out to give it to them.

> And now, in 3 big ways we have excelled every pencil we have ever seen. We think you will agree with us. So we ask you to give this new pencil a trial at

> Men complained that existing pencils were heavy, tiresome, unbalanced.

They said the lead jammed and rendered the pencil useless. That the complicated mechanism broke when they tried to fix it.

Women asked for a pencil that would not tarnish or "sweat." And they, too, complained of jamming and sticking.

So those were the things we set out to overcome. We know the pencil business. More than 30,000,000 pencils have been sold under the invention of one of our men. Three other of our men have been in the pencil business all their lives.

Now we offer you our new pencil. All these old handicaps are ended. Our new pencil is Autopoint. We respectfully urge trial-for we know that the pencil itself will convince you where words fail.

The new Autopoint pencil is made ex-clusively of Bakelite. Women like it because it is a beautiful onyx-like substance which cannot mar, or dent. It is a substance which cannot tarnish and does not sweat.

Men like it because it is feather-weight, light and flexible. And our new "neutral cone" invention absolutely prevents jams.

FRANCE ASSERTS FIRST CLAIM TO LAND OF MOORS

PARIS, Dec. 16.—"The Spanish protectorate over Morocco is the result of an Anglo-French agreement conferring this privilege on the Madrid government, and Spain is not entitled to relinquish the territory to any third power or evacuate the sone entirely or in part or otherwise escape the obliga-tion of maintaining order without officially advising the two powers concerned."

This, in substance, is Quai d'Orsay's viewpoint of the Spanish Moroccan situation. Stripped of camouflage, this means that France considers itself alone interested in the future of the alone interested in the future of the protectorate, since in the terms of the Anglo-French accord the Paris government agreed to keep hands off of Egypt and the Sudan in exchange for London's pledge to leave Paris carte blane in the territories of the Sultan of Morocco, to whom the caliph at Tetuan owns allegiance.

NATIONAL PARK ARKANSAS

Come Visit the Valley of Contentment, NOW!

—for Nature is in friendly mood, here at The Nation's Health Resort. Her skies are fair, her air a balmy canopy of fleecy cloud and sparkling sunshine —and she smilingly invites you to escape from winter for a so-journ in this happy valley.

There's a hotel for every personal taste be it a cosmopolitan hostelry, or the genial so-clability of unpretentions comfort—and at rates that suit your purps.

There's recreation in every form, including golf at its best, on one course of 27 belos and another of 9, with hazards plentiful and every good abot rewarded.

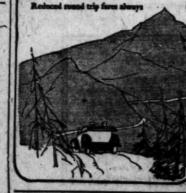

Good reads connecting with national high-ways suggest you come by mount and enjoy the range of this picturesque region.

If you're strenuous, there is tennis or tramping scross the hills—if leisurely, sightseeing as you like it or a bench in the sumshine in the Government park. To you who are strong, Hot Springs' fa-mous baths bring renewed vigor—to the all-ing, great benefits, many cures and welcome relief. Uncle Sam himself owns these won-derful waters and all bath houses are under his prescriptor.

Here, then, is relaxation and enjoyment. Leave bleak winter behind for a time and come see where Ponce de Leon found the Fountain of Youth among these whispering pines. You, perhaps, will find it also.

May we send you our inter-esting free booklet describing in full the advantages of The Nation's Health Resort! Just write today addressing ill health

NATURE is merciless.
Disregard her laws and you suffer.

Some of us in El Pasonow in robust, good health-know all too well the costly truth of it. If we had seized time by the forelock, we might not have had such long, trying months of convalescence.

Don't Delay

We say, in all sincerity, to every man or woman with weak lungs, asthma, bronchitis, or tuberculosis, don't delay too long. You can't repair years of neglect overnight.

Be Wise Be wise, out-wit ill health. A few months outdoor living and rest in this dry, sunny, delightful climate may fore-stall years of suffering.

We are proud that people get well in El Paso — proud that some who have come on stretchers, scarcely willing to live, are now strong, active, able to live anywhere.

Our Message We want to place in the hands of everyone troubled with asthma, bronchitis, weak lungs or tuberculosis, a copy of "Filling the Sunshine Prescrip-tion." This booklet, endorsed by the El Paso Medical Society, SYNOPSIS Palmyra Tree, on board the yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California Paimyrs rae, on ourse the yacht annow, which is leaving the California coast the south seas, is startled to see a sinewy brown hand with a black lace mitt on it thrust through her porthole window: Paimyra is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren Ruiger. She is not certain which man she loves.

palmyra determines to unearth the owner of that sinister hand, but tells no one nei m. Burke permits her a glimpse of a savage brown man, Olive, hiding with him are does the latter a good turn.

She gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren Butger. Burke and She gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren Rutger. Burke and Office leave the yacht at Honolulu, and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Bainbow is wrecked. The party lands on an uninhabited island faced with starvation. Burke appears on the Pigeon of Noah, and promises to rescue them. Palmyra beard along to investigate and finds herself. goes on board alone to investigate, and finds herself a prisoner. Burke sails away with Palmyra, telling her it was he who wrecked the yacht Rainbow. Thurston and Van Buren start at dawn in vain pursuit. Burke outlines his plan to Palmyra of making her INSTALLMENT XXI. WHITE SAVAGE OR BROWN?

Palmyra was increasingly understanding how irrevocably, on the Rainbow Burke had been misled by her caprice. Listening at first in a pleased surprise, he had been eagerly self-deceived. Sure that the lawless strain, persisting through environment, had at last roused, he was now convinced she was already in love with the life he typified-though she herself did not as yet perceive the fact-and that, in the glamour of life cast upon hunself, she would in time willingly come to be his own.

"And, girl," Ponapé Burke was shouting, "there never, never was no Miss had such a woman as you. Yer hair!" He exulted in the wonder of Ponapé Burke did a jig step or two across the deck.

"Say, Palm, girl," he exclaimed; "say—you and yer heathen hair! Did or did I not, mention as how I was going t'make y'a real sure enough no control becomes a teacher in a character finely drawn.

And you'll sure like Tanna when y'get the taste o' power in yer pretty mouth."
Only once had he laid a hand upon her, That was when, in a fury, she had flown at him, clawing his face. He had held her away, loudly hilarious. "I'd steal a kiss," he cried, "if 'twasn't for my sore arm. But, no, I can wait 'till y'come free, poking out yer lips and begging me t'take a smack.

There was, for instance, the occasion when Olive, for the first time

Hard the Pigeon of Noah, spoke to her.

Had it not been for those brown shot eyes, always so stealthily upon her, she would sometimes have thought of this savage as a machine. There was a sort of unhuman precision about him. He would be here, silent, motionless, and then he would be there, something accomplished. He had not hur-

The girl shrank back; fled, in panic at the nearness of him, toward the onway. But there she recollected that Burke was at the foot of the ladder, and stood helpless.

Then the white man came climbing up. "Y'little vixen," he warned in a malicious enjoyment of the situation, "push me overboard"—he interrupted himself with a burst of laughter. "Gad," he cried, "but I'd hate t'give y'the chance! Push me overboard, and I'm gone. But—Olive's left. Remember that I'm what stands between you. I ain't a-saying as how he'd love a red headed goddess all his own. O, no! But I do see he's got his eye on y'like haded goddess all his own. O, no! But I do see he's got his eye on y'like a wolf following a nice fat little lamb off into the timber."

The girl shuddered. Burke or Olive? White savage or brown? A cry of despair rose to her lips but she fought it back. Her hand stole up toward the opening of her dress, lingered, fell again to her side.

Since that event—it was now her third day aboard the Lupé-a-Noa—she since that event—it was now her third day aboard the Lupé-a-Noa—she had been wondering whether Ponapé Burke really did stand between her and had been wondering whether Ponapé Burke really did stand between her and had been wondering whether levels saying that Olive, if he knew his power, his man. And she suspected at times that Olive might know this

There were, of course, the revolvers; always ready to the white man's hand and deadly. Olive must be brave indeed to risk those. But she felt was he had already risked them her first night aboard.

The girl had sprung, trembling, panting, for the companion, had slammed that and shot home the bolts. Then she had stumbled down the steps and thrown herself, sobbing, upon the bunk. She had borne up bravely so may see the sun remained, but on the closing in of night, with all its sinister aplications, she had given way.

A swinging lamp smokily illumined the enclosure. With the planking awhead still sizzling from the day's sun, the stifling air was heavy with the said sweet of copra. Only my wife sticks. She says she doesn't believe in this 'Jonah' business and that we'll show them in spite of everything.

"I started out with the idea of being a public accountant, went to high school and had all my hopes centered on that. But I don't see any way of seeing it through. I've a chance now to go in with a freight auditor, but I seem to have lost my nerve."

A man of 50 may have some excuse for losing his nerve, when this thing we call luck goes against him. But for a young man of 25 there isn't a valid reason in the world. The only danger is he'll get to believing in his own bad luck so firmly that after while he'll derive a certain melancholy enjoyment out of it. His wife them will be seed to get flower and the truth that he recommended would be considered to have a will be a swell for the steaming. It was kindly given us by Orne Onsrud of Parls and Norway, now a well kind with the steam of Norway, now a well know Chicago chef:

The following Christmas pudding recipe came in a little too late, perhaps, to be of service on Christmas day, but can be used at any time during the season. It had the annotation, "Should stand five to ten days before the steam of tresh white bread crumbs. 1½ cups flow. 2 cup soft seedless raisins, 1 cup of dried curbus to their two proposes raisins, 1 cup of dried curbus to the butter strings, ½ cup brown sugar. ½ cup in one side in a cold place for 12 hours. It should of Parls and Norway, now a well know Chicago chef:

10 ounces of crisp kidney, suet, 2 cups of tresh white bread crumbs. 1½ cups flow. 2 cups of seedless raisins, 1 cup of dried curbus, 2 cups of seedless raisins, 1 cup of dried curbus, 3 cup canded or orange peel, ½ cup hours and a served to King Oscar II., and he enjoyed it so much that he requested it to be served to him on several different occasions."

The recipe looks rather wet to us, by the season of singer, 1 tesspoon of more of singer, 1 tesspoon of ground cloves, ½ teaspoon of singer, 1 tesspoon of ground cloves, ½ teaspoon of singer, 1 tesspo

Corner Stone Is Laid for Moody Church in Evening Service

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON. [Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribun A corner stone laying, unique in that it was conducted at night, took place last evening at 9:30 o'clock at the new $1,000,000 Dwight L. Moody Memorial church in Clark street near North ave

The ceremony outdoors with the mist falling was preceded by religious ex-ercises in the temporary wooden tabernacle in which services now are held. After the indoor meeting a procession was formed of the Rev. P. W. Philpott, pastor of Moody church; Dr. J. M. Gray, president of Moody Bible insti tute; the Rev. H. Herring, assistant pastor of Moody church; E. P. James, chairman of the board of trustees, and other church officials and the choir. The corner stone has chiseled on it the words, "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid which is sus Christ." The assemblage fumbering 1,000 or more sang, "On Christ the Solid Rock I Stand," and the pastor with bare head and uplifted hand, said:

GOOPS! Novel Application of Leopard to Suede A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children

ence.]—The leopard, near relative to the king of beasts, suffers many of the troubles which are apt to afflict ruling families. Pretenders to the throne abound, and among the newest of these spurious princelings is the goat. It was none other than Mme. Yteb, the celebrated Russian designer who has been paying this country a visit, who supported the claims of our domestic beast. For, at a showing of her creabeast. For, at a showing of her creations, she displayed a fur coat made of goat painted with the spots which have made the leopard famous.

As for the fabrics that pretend to near kinship with this pelt, they are increasing both in variety and in genureasing both in variety and in genure was the fall we eral favor. Way back in the fall we found long tunic blouses made et tirely of such spectacular materials, and now several Paris models for evening wear develop the long sheath corsage in spotted silks or velvets to which is attached a short full skirt of contrasting fabric. Gold cloth is used for one of such flounced skirts, brown chiffon for another, gold lace for still a third. For the trimming of our coats eopard retains all its former influence. Today we find it applied to a coat of brown suede cloth, and the form of its application is the point of interest. This pelt is smart, and may be carried out

History and Business

The Bendix Corporation is being organized under the laws of Illinois to take over the principal assets and continue the business of Bendix Engineering Works, Inc., also an Illinois Corporation, organized in 1920. The Corporation will own the entire outstanding capital stock of Bendix Brake Company (now Perrot Brake Corporation) and will own three-fourths of the oustanding capital stock of International Gernandt Motors, Limited, which operates through its subsidiary, Gernandt Motor Corporation.

The Bendix Corporation will own (subject to an out-its subsidiary, Gernandt Motor Corporation.

The Bendix Corporation will own (subject to an outstanding one-fifth interest in royalties or other proceeds) more than 45 United States patents relating to The Bendix Drive invented by Mr. Vincent Bendix, and the licensor interest in the license agreement with the Eclipse Machine Company of Elmira, N. Y., which has the sole and exclusive manufacturing right under these patents. The Corporation will also possess rights of substantial value in respect of foreign patents covering The Bendix Drive. Since the introduction of The Bendix Drive, the demand for it has steadily increased, production reaching 3,000,000 units for the year 1923, being supplied as standard equipment on approximately 90% of the automobiles manufactured in the United States during that year. In addition The Bendix Drive is regular equipment on many of the automobiles manufactured in Europe.

The Bendix Corporation, through its subsidiary, has ac-manufactured in Europe.

The Bendix Corporation, through its subsidiary, has acquired (subject to the license to the General Motors Corporation hereinafter mentioned) exclusive manufacturing rights for the United States covering the Perrot Four Wheel mechanical braking system. This system is standard equipment on a large proportion of cars built in Europe, where it has been thoroughly tested and has proven its worth. The General Motors Corporation is using Perrot braking parts as regular equipment on Cadillac, Buick and Oakland cars under a non-exclusive license, the licensor interest wherein will be assigned to the Bendix Corporation. The Bendix Brake division of the Corporation, with the proceeds of this financing, plans immediate production of Four Wheel Brakes on a large scale, and it is believed this branch of the business will prove extremely profitable.

The Gernandt Motor division of the Bendix Corporation has developed a small Diesel Engine, which operates without carburetor or electrical ignition devices, using distillates and other cheap grades of fuel. Agreements to grant licenses have been made with the International Harvester Company and other interests to build these engines on a royalty basis. With proper development this division should also prove profitable.

Earnings and Dividends

For the two years ended June 30, 1924, after deductions for depreciation and Federal Taxes, but before amortization of patents, average net earnings adjusted by Messrs. Arthur Andersen & Company to show the elimination of all items not applicable to the new company, were in excess of $263,000.00, or more than twice the dividend requirements on the Class "A" stock. These earnings have been derived principally from royalties on The Bendix Drive, and are of a very uniform nature. The Bendix Brake is now entering production and should increase profits considerably.

The Class "A" stock, which is callable at $40.00 a share, and which is convertible at any time into Class "B" stock share for share, bears cumulative dividends from January 1, 1925, at the rate of $2.00 a share per annum, and is entitled to a preference of $25.00 a share and accrued dividends on dissolution. In addition the Class "A" stock enjoys certain participating privileges both as to additional dividends and in the event of dissolution.

The Directors have signified their intention of placing the "A" shares on a dividend basis, the initial quarterly dividend of fifty cents a share to be payable at an early date.

Legal proceedings under the supervision of Cassels, Potter & Bentley for the Corporation and Pam & Hurd and Moses Rosenthal & Kennedy for the Bankers. Appraisals of Real-Estate by American Appraisal Company. Appraisal of Patents by Mr. Samuel E. Hibben of Rector, Hibben, Davis & Macauley, Patent Attorneys, and Mr. H. G. Webster, Consulting Engineer. Audits by Arthur Andersen & Co.

We offer this stock, when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approval of counsel. Delivery of certificates in temporary form is expected on or about December 22, 1924.

Price $26.00 per share, subject to allotment

Ladies and Gentlemen-we take great pleasure in presenting three notable contemporaries— A Wish, A Want and the Will to Do

HERE are with us today three famous personages:
Mr. Wish, Mr. Want, and Mr. Will To Do. In fact, they are with us every day and all the time. For we never acquire a house, an automobile, books, or anything without consulting all three of these people.

In the process of acquiring anything there first comes into the consciousness that we are without something that we need-we wish that we had it. Then, as our conscious lack takes shape and assumes definite proportions, we know very thoroughly that we want that thing. And almost immediately on the heels of Mr. Want comes Mr. Will To Do. For as soon as we know definitely that we want a house or a car or a grand piano, comes the determination to get it if that lies within our power.

When Mr. Will To Do has announced himself, then we cast about for ways and means. If we can afford to do so, we go to the store and buy what we want. But many of us look in the Want Ads and find a serviceable article, almost new, at half the cost.

wanted a grand piano, and they wanted it, oh! so much; but when one is furnishing a house there are so many necessary things that run into such a lot of money. For a while the Abercrombies were afraid that they would have to forego the beloved grand. But then one morning the mistress of the household had a new idea. She looked in The Tribune Want Ad Section, found the notice of an auction sale, and together they attended the selling and picked up a very serviceable instrument for about 30 per cent of what it would have cost new.

Just when the Howard Youngs got nicely settled in Chicago Howard's firm transferred him to the Los Angeles branch office. And it was altogether out of the question to pack up the furniture and ship it, for the freight costs were prohibitive. So Mrs. Howard decided that she must sell all her things which had been acquired at so much trouble and expense.

The furniture was practically new. Most of it was of period design with many authentic copies of famous pieces. There were several good paintings and a variety of lamps, clocks, andirons, books and knickknacks. But they all had to go, and quickly.

There was obviously but one way to sell the furniture and that was to advertise it in The Tribune Want Ads. Mrs. Young made a careful list of all the articles that were for sale, and then to the more costly ones she appended a good description. It made quite a long Want Ad, but it was worth it. For a large number of people answered the ad, and all the furniture was sold, in lots, to three parties.

A LTHOUGH Jack always said that she was in every way a model wife, Mrs. Lillianthal had a most unhappy knack of losing things. Things seemed to gravitate away from her. And so one day when the keys for the car fell out of her bag, that was too much. She couldn't tell Jack about it. What to do? So she put a Want Ad in The Tribune and the keys were returned the following day.

AND here is the story of Mr. Burn-Jones, who is a real estate broker in a small way. He had a flair for rare and costly volumes which he could ill afford. Not that he ever read the books, but he felt that it was nice to have them. And so over a period of years he had acquired quite a library.

Burn-Jones one day ran across a rare opportunity in the form of vacant property that was being let go of at a forced sale to clear an estate. He gathered all his resources and still lacked $2,000. What to do? Why, he sold the library through a Tribune Want Ad and easily made up the difference. And so can you.

WHEN Hilda said she was going to leave, Mrs Walter Green was on the verge of tears, for Hilda was such a household treasure. She was tactful and intelligent, and knew just how long to boil Walter's breakfast eggs. Besides, you know, Walter was rather particular about his comforts, and Mrs. Green was not at all domestic. One couldn't be, with bridge, the lectures, symphonies, and all the new books.

Hilda had to be replaced with another Hilda; but that is more easily said that done. So Mrs. Walter Green sat down and gave the matter some concentrated thought. She knew that mads read the Want Ads when they seek a change of place. So she wrote a long Want Ad with a lot of good sales talk in it, thoroughly describing the house, the locality, the pay, the hours of work, the proximity of the movies, and the high repute in which the family was generally held.

It did the trick. She received 18 answers and had no trouble at all in selecting another Hilda. (Mrs. Housewife, there is no copyright on this idea.)

THE Wellingtons had an apartment that was much too large—oh, much. Besides, Mr. W. was on the road a great part of the time. Mrs, Wellington determined to rent one of the spare bedrooms to some companionable young woman who would appreciate a home atmosphere. She found just the right sort, too, through a Tribune Want Ad. (And so can you.)

From the Outside Looking In

MAN completely absorbed in his own business affairs sometimes loses the outside viewpoint—the right perspective for forming a clear-headed policy or making an unbiased decision. This is a reason why the counsel of a banker who is in touch with various lines of business is of value.

A banker of course has no greater foresight than other business men, but his contact with many business men in varied lines of industry gives him a composite view of conditions that can be of value to his customers. He acts as a distributing center of information regarding business conditions.

His counsel is always of maximum value when the banker understands your individual business. Above all, he should know you-not casually, but as one with whom he has discussed business affairs from time to time.

The Gilt Edge Gift!

HEN ALL OTHER GIFTS are worn out, discarded and forgotten, a safe bond remains as desirable and pleasing as ever, and every six months presents its happy possessor an interest coupon.

A Christmas gift of money lacks the spirit of the day. It may hurt the feelings of the sensitive. It betrays a careless giver, one unable to think of something more appropriate.

But a bond—there's the gift of gifts! It has the value of money, yet it shows the finest forethought for the pleasure of the recipient. It gives the delight of purchasing many things he or she may wish, for many years to come.

Your wife, your daughter, your mother, your sister will appreciate one of our First Mortgage 7% Gold Bonds more than anything you could give. Such a bond makes a gilt edge gift because it is a gilt edge investment.

Our Ninetieth Anniversary Offering is just off the press. It contains one of the choicest lots of bonds in our experience. The booklet itself is one of extraordinary interest and we want you to have it. Call, phone Main 1865 or H. O. Stone & Co. Please send me your booklet of choice 7% First Mortgage Bonds. No obligation to me in any way.

American Exchange National Bank, New York The Chase National Bank of the City of New York Transferable also in Chicago at the office of the corporation. For information regarding this stock, we refer to the letter dated December 18th, 1921, of Hr. H. L. Clarks, President of Utilities Power and Light Corporation, which he has summarized as follows:

Priority dividends of $2.00 per annum on the Class A Stock, when and as declared, shall be payable on the first days of January, April, July and October. Dividends on the Class A Stock are non-cumu-lative After the full priority dividend on Class A Stock shall have been declared and provided for in any year and dividends for the Class B Stock shall have been declared and provided for in that year to the extent of the total amount required for such priority dividend on the Class A Stock, one-half of the amount of any further dividends in such year shall be paid to Class A Stock and one-half to Class B Stock.

New Laue

The figures here published for both 1923 and 1924 have been revised on the basis of the latest and fullest information now available. The revised figures here shown, and not the unrevised figures previously published, should be compared to obtain the proper relation of the 1924 acreage and production to that of 1923 and earlier years.

The Class A Stock, issued without par value, has priority in liquida-tion or dissolution over the Class B Stock up to $35.00 per share. B Stock up to $35,00 per share. After this preferential payment to the Class A Stock is provided for and provision has been made for the distribution to the Class B Stock of an amount equal in the aggregate to the total of such preferential payment to the Class A Stock, one-half of the remaining assets shall be distributed ratably among the holders of the Class A Stock and one-half among the holders of the Class B Stock.

Listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange. It is the intention of the corporation to make application immediately to list the Class A stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price: $25.00 per share Properties: Utilities Power & Light Corporation, incorporated in Virginia, controls directly or through subsidiaries, public utility systems operating in the States of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and New Jersey. Among the companies controlled are Interstate Power Company, a Wisconsin Corporation, operating in southern Minnesota, northeastern Iowa and southwestern Wisconsin and owning the entire Common Stock of Dubuque Electric Company, Dubuque, Iowa; Eastern New Jersey Power Company, operating in the rapidly growing communities along the Atlantic Coast of eastern New Jersey within commuting distance of New York and Philadelphia; Atlantic Coast Transportation Company, Electric Light & Power Company, Hightstown, N. J., and Jamesburg Electric Company.

Electric Light & Power Company, Hightstown, N. J., and Jamesburg Electric Company. The systems furnish over 275 communities with one or more of the following public utility services: Electric light and power, gas, steam heat, water and electric railway. The population served is about 560,000. All the principal franchises of the companies are favorable and contain no burdensome restrictions. Over 90% of the net income of the properties is derived from the sale of electric light and power. The Interstate Power system is now being interconnected physically, thereby enabling the Management to effect large economies in operation as well as expansion of the business. During the past year the output of electrical energy of this system alone was in excess of 45,000,000 k.w.h. Business obtainable in the Eastern New Jersey Power Company's territory will require the installation of an additional unit to its present plant in the near future and the connection with the Interstate system of the Dubuque Electric Company property will necessitate doubling immediately the present capacity of its generating facilities.

In addition to the properties in the system operating as public utilities, the stockholders.

In addition to the properties in the system operating as public utilities, the stockholders of Utilities Power & Light Corporation have a valuable equity in the Utilities Building Corporation, owning a modern 12-story office building in the "Loop" district, Chicago, Ill.

Valuations: The properties of the public utility subsidiary companies of Utilities Power & Light Corporation have been valued recently at $25,515,741, after making allowances for depreciation which averaged about 8%. Included in this total the portion applying to Interstate Power Company properties (as established by an appraisal made by the Company's engineers) is $1,190,900 in excess of the valuation reported to the bankers by Day and Zimmermann, Inc. After including additional property, investments, cash, etc., of a total of $2,533,507, and allowing for funded debt and Preferred and Common Stocks of the subsidiaries, etc., presently outstanding and for the Corporation's Preferred Stock, there remained for the Class A and Class B Stocks more than $7,938,434. Together with the equity in the Utilities Building, the total of equities is at the rate of over $00 per share for the Class A Stock.

Earnings:

Power & Light Corporation....

Deductions are on the basis of annual interest charges and dividend requirements on subsidiary mpany securities to be outstanding with public immediately after sale of this Class A Stock.

The balance of the combined net earnings, as shown, is at the rate of over $6.00 per share on the Class A Stock presently to be outstanding. No allowance has been made in this statement for the earnings of the Utilities Building Corporation whose stock is held in trust for the benefit of the Utilities Power & Light Corporation stockholders. The Management believes that the economies of operation resulting from the interconnection of the properties of the Interstate Power system, together with new business to be obtained immediately by all properties, will increase the net earnings over $450,000 for the coming year, a large part of which should be evident during the next few months.

Dividends: As the earnings of the Corporation and its subsidiaries are at a rate to warrant a distribution to the Class A Shares, and are expected to show a marked increase in the next few months, it is the intention of the Management to recommend to the Directors inauguration, during the quarter ending April 1, 1925, of dividends on the Class A Stock at the annual rate of $2 per share.

AR legal matters in connection with the immunes of this stock will be passed upon by Mesers. Rushmarn, Bishes & Storn. Nam York City., for the Buying Group, and by Mesers. Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Plats, Chicago, for the Corporation.
